Assessment: Frontend Development

Main Components :

- There is a Home page in Home Components
- A button user can go to the location page in the Home page by clicking this button.
- In the Location Page, the user can select the sensor location and also select the current time and there is a submit button for submitting data and going to the value page.
- There is also the DateTime picker field to select the date for historical data.
- There is a Value shower page for a showing parameter value and there is a button so that a user can check the historical data of this location.
- In Api there are many values for the same date but I can pick for user current time data.